

The Michigan Chapter of the American Society for Information Science & Technology (MI-ASIS&T)

presents

2006 Annual Meeting:
"Quality or Quackery?
Medical Information on the Web"

The Michigan Chapter of the American Society for Information Science & Technology invites you to join us as we connect with colleagues, enjoy dinner, and learn about medical information on the Web! Cash bar and hors d'oeuvres will also be available during the first hour of the meeting.

Wednesday, October 25, 2006
5:30 P.M. – 8:00 P.M.
Holiday Inn, Ann Arbor

PROGRAM:

Searching for medical information is the third most popular use of the Internet. Are healthcare consumers finding the high quality information they need, or are they being harmed by unreliable or dangerous information? A checklist for evaluating health sites and a tour of trustworthy online websites will be presented.

SPEAKER:

Robin Sabo, Reference Librarian/Health Sciences Bibliographer, Central Michigan University

COST:

$30 for ASIS&T Members  $15 for Students
SPECIAL! $30 for SLA Members  $35 for Non-ASIS&T / SLA Member

DINNER:

Choice of Chicken Piccata or Vegetarian Wellington and comes with the following: dinner salad, fresh cauliflower, broccoli and carrot blend, herb roasted redskin potatoes, and black forest cake for dessert.

REGISTRATION DEADLINE: Friday, October 20, 2006

register online or download a registration form to mail in at:

<http://www.asis.org/Chapters/michap/programs/20061025.html>

PROGRAM DETAILS:

For more information on the program (directions, menu, etc.):

<http://www.asis.org/Chapters/michap/programs/20061025.html>

or contact Allison Brueckner, Secretary/Treasurer, Michigan ASIS&T Chapter
allison.brueckner@comcast.net or 734-834-4276.

Michigan Chapter of the American Society for Information Science & Technology (MI-ASIS&T)

www.asis.org/Chapters/michap/