

ASSESSING THE ACCESSIBILITY OF WEB 2.0 WEBSITES

ASIST 2009, Vancouver Author Bios

Tyson McMillan is a doctoral student in the interdisciplinary Information Science program at the University of North Texas (UNT). McMillan received his master's degree in Information Technologies from UNT, and his bachelor's degree in Computer Information Systems from West Texas A&M University. McMillan is presently the chair of the North Texas Chapter of ASIS&T.

Dr. Lin Lin is an Assistant Professor of Learning Technologies at University of North Texas. Lin received her doctorate from Teachers College Columbia University in 2006. Lin's research focuses on enhancing learning, communication, and collaboration with new media and technologies. For more information, please visit <http://courseweb.unt.edu/lin>